WEEKS TESTIFIES REGARDING FORD SHOALS BID

Army Transport 'Northern Pacific' Is Burned

ALL BUT FOUR OF CREW REPORTED SAVED; ACCIDENT WAS SHIP'S THIRD

Four Men Are Declared to Be Drifting in Open Life Boat

WAS ONE OF FASTEST IN THE ARMY SERVICE

Vessel Had Been Known in Official Circles as "Hoodoo Ship"

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—The former U. S. army transport Northern Pacific, which sailed from Hoboken last night with a crew of 70 men, burned today 100 miles south of Sandy Hook.

All of the crew, except four, were reported accounted for in late dispatches to naval officials here. No passengers were aboard the transport. The four men, who have not been picked up by other vessels, are reported to be drifting in a life boat. The Northern Pacific was being taken to Chester, where it was to undergo repairs.

The vessel had been purchased from the government by the Admiral line and was to sail from New York for San Francisco in May. Captain William Innes, who commanded the vessel during the war when it was service as a transport, was in command. One of the reports indicated how the vessel caught fire. The vessel was one of the fastest in the American service. She was said to be capable of making 30 knots an hour.

The transport was known in army and navy circles as the "hoodoo ship" of the government service. She was put in government service during the war.

Her first accident occurred when, as a naval transport, she was running from Brest, France, on January 14, 1919. She was ashore off Fire Island and her passengers were removed with difficulty.

The navy experienced other minor mishaps with the vessel and during the summer of 1919 she was turned over to the army for service in bringing home soldiers from France. On May 10, 1920, she went ashore in San Juan bay, Cuba, with General Pershing aboard.

Again she was gotten off with considerable difficulty. Today's accident is the third mishap in two years.

IMPORTANT DECISION GIVEN BY COURT ON PAVING INJUNCTION

Judge Brickell Rules, in Effect, that Injunction Asked by Land Company Owners Can Be Maintained

A most important decision has just been rendered by Judge Brickell, sitting in Equity, in the injunction proceedings brought by Spragins, Fletcher, Beard and Knight against the City of Albany, the contractor to whom was awarded the contract for the paving of a number of streets in the City, and American National Bank of Nashville.

The contract for the present street paving was attacked by Spragins, Fletcher, Beard and Knight upon several grounds, and Judge Brickell in rendering his decision says:

"The contract is attacked by the bill upon numerous grounds which are not necessary here to set forth, as if any of the grounds of attack upon the contract are well taken, then the bill is properly filed and can be maintained."

The court's decision is a ruling that the City was without authority to place a burden on the property owners by reason of this maintenance bond and is in effect a ruling that the bill for an injunction can therefore be maintained.

Callahan and Harris represent Spragins, Fletcher, Beard and Knight in these injunction proceedings.

Every Run of Liquor is Declared to Constitute Violation of "Dry" Law

(Montgomery Bureau, Albany-Decatur Daily)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 8.—Every run of liquor from a moonshine still makes the owner guilty of a felony under the bone dry law of Alabama and the grand jury may indict him every day or as many times each day as runs are made under a decision of the court of appeals Tuesday afternoon in the case of Richard Chilvers of DeKalb county, who had been convicted of violating the bone dry law and sentenced to from one and one-half years to two and one-half years in the penitentiary.

Chilvers was given a new trial because the trial court permitted the state to submit testimony that Chilvers at various times had been guilty of manufacturing liquor. The court held that each run constituted a separate offense and that testimony should be held to that particular violation. However, the opinion expressly said that in some instances cumulative evidence would be proper where it referred to the continuance of an operation or to the manufacture of liquor on days which were closely associated. However, it held that it was not proper, in trying a man for a particular violation, to submit evidence that at widely separated times he had manufactured liquor in violation of the bone dry law.

Referring to the bringing of a separate case against a defendant for each run of liquor, the court of appeals in an opinion written by Judge Merritt said:

"Each act of distillation is a distinct offense and the subject of a separate indictment and under the principle governing in this jurisdiction the state could only give evidence of one distinct act of distillation."

The court of appeals affirmed the case of William Williams from Cherokee county, in which Williams was given a sentence of twelve years in prison for second degree murder. Williams' chief contention in support of a new trial was that the trial court reprimanded a jury for failing to convict a violator of the prohibition law the day before his case was tried and that this reprimand had a prejudicial effect on his case because the jury which tried him was a part of the panel which was reprimanded by the court. The court of appeals held that Williams should have made a continuance after the other jury had been reprimanded.

Not only is President Mapother hopeful that Ford will acquire the subject, but he also sees a possibility of using a part of the power to be created at Muscle Shoals for electrification of one of the branches of the road.

The automobile show this year will be given on the lower floors of the big Malone building and a number of attractive features are being planned by the popular firm. The shows in the past have drawn enormous crowds and this year is expected to be no exception. The automobile show will be free, it was stated.

"You remember the displays of the past years and how you enjoyed yourself. Come and bring the family. We will make your visits pleasant and interesting," the announcement of the Malone company stated.

The government faces a big monetary sacrifice in selling this property to Ford at his offer but there are big benefits to be derived if his proposal is accepted, but whether these benefits offset the monetary sacrifice is a question for congress to decide, he said.

Secretary Weeks gave his opinion that Ford intends to establish industries at Muscle Shoals which would use much of the available waterpower at the site and that he also contemplated sale of the surplus power.

Under present arrangement of leasing the government is about "breaking even" on the Shoals project, he told the committee. While Weeks was testifying the house agriculture committee voted unanimously that it should have jurisdiction over the Ford contract instead of the military affairs committee.

The decision of the agriculture committee probably will be laid before the house late today.

Congressional authorization for the leading of Muscle Shoals to Ford within 90 days was the definite objective of the agriculture bloc. Leaders of the bloc hope to obtain congressional approval of the offer within 60 days but will insist upon definite action before summer.

AMERICAN NAVY IS TO GET GREATEST CUTTING RECEIVED AT SOLONS' HANDS

Slashing Will Carry Service Far Below Mark Set by Congress

WILL DO SCRAPPING ON THEIR OWN ACCOUNT

Congress Will Refuse to Provide Funds for Ships' Maintenance

(Copyright 1922 by I. N. S.)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The American navy is in for the greatest cutting it has ever received at the hands of congress, a slashing that will carry it far below the mark set by the armament conference.

Republican leaders in congress informed the I. N. S. today that the American navy is just about twice as big as is necessary under existing conditions and that before congress finishes up its work this session the navy will be reduced by approximately one half all along the line—appropriation, personnel, both enlisted and commissioned, ships, shore stations and other factors that go to make up the navy of today.

"The big navies of the world are now limited," they said. "We have declared a building holiday with our chief competitors. We are told that the peace of the world has been insured for 15 years at least by the armament conference. Then, why do we need a big navy? Besides we have an economy program to put through and we need the money."

The present authorized strength of the navy is approximately 106,000 enlisted men and 5,900 officers. Before the house gets through with its present plans the authorized strength of the navy will be not more than 60,000 men and 3,000 officers, its leaders said today.

Congress also plans to do some scrapping on its own account. Not satisfied with a number of capital ships which the armament conference consigned to the junk pile, house leaders are going to direct the scrapping of numerous older vessels of all classes and then force obedience by the simple method of not providing men and money for their continued operation.

OFFICIAL TESTIFIES IN RATE HEARING

(Montgomery Bureau, Albany-Decatur Daily)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 8.—C. D. Quinn, assistant to the vice-president of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, remained on the witness stand before the public service commission Tuesday in the general hearing which will determine whether or not the railroads will be required to revise and readjust all class and commodity intrastate rates in Alabama.

Much of the day was devoted to the schedules offered by the railroads in readjustment of the present rates in shipments of lumber between points in Alabama. A large number of exhibits were filed by Mr. Quinn in connection with his testimony. The exhibits related to comparisons between present lumber rates and the rates which the railroads have proposed to establish voluntarily as well as comparisons between the proposed intrastate lumber rates in Alabama and the rates now in effect between intra-state points in other states.

Indications are that the present hearings will not be concluded before Friday afternoon. The submission of testimony in regard to proposed rates on other commodities will be begun Monday.

AUTOMOBILE SHOW IN CONNECTION WITH SHOALS EXPOSITION

BIRMINGHAM, Feb. 8.—"I believe political developments are such that it looks now if Ford will get Muscle Shoals," said W. L. Mapother, president of the L. & N. Wednesday morning, supplementing his talk before the chamber of commerce Tuesday night when he denied reports that his road was an opponent of the Ford offer and in unmistakable terms declared the road favors the Ford proposals.

Not only is President Mapother hopeful that Ford will acquire the subject, but he also sees a possibility of using a part of the power to be created at Muscle Shoals for electrification of one of the branches of the road.

"You remember the displays of the past years and how you enjoyed yourself. Come and bring the family. We will make your visits pleasant and interesting," the announcement of the Malone company stated.

Blindness is No Handicap to Him

Cecil Hartsell, whose picture appeared in The Age-Herald of this date lives at Hartsville, and the biography of his life shows what a man thus handicapped can do by effort. Young Hartsell was born blind, and when a young child was able to engage in the sports of childhood with the other children of his neighborhood and seemed to enjoy the play. Later he was sent to the school for the blind at Talladega where he developed quite a talent for music. He has been able to acquire a fair education, and is now making his way in the world by his own effort. He teaches classes in music, and has been able to compose several selections. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Hartsell, who reside at the above place and have done all in their power to help the young man to forge forward.

Secretary Weeks Admits Again Value of the Ford Proposals

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Before the government continues negotiations with Henry Ford for development of the waterpower project and nitrate plant at Muscle Shoals, Ala., assurances should be given that the Detroit manufacturer will produce fertilizer there during the entire term of his lease, Secretary of War Weeks today told the house military affairs committee when hearings were opened on the Ford contract.

Weeks declared that Ford had "frequently changed his mind" on the manufacturer of fertilizer. Secretary Weeks appeared before the committee to supplement his views, transmitted in writing to the house last week.

He announced at the opening of the hearing that two other offers, independent of the Ford proposals had been made for development of Muscle Shoals and that he would transmit both to congress the latter part of the week. These offers will be considered with the Ford. All three contemplate leasing the Shoals equipment and power and nitrate sites from the government on long term leases.

Secretary Weeks outlined for the committee the various phases of the Ford proposals and the steps taken in the negotiations. He detailed conversations and correspondence covering early negotiations and explaining attempts of the government to secure modification of the proposed contract, which later were secured.

These modifications, he said, were designed to provide further guarantees to the government that Ford would condone the government engaging in "fertilizer manufacturer or any other business."

Questioned as to nitrate production of the plant at present capacity, Weeks said that the development of nitrate only is in its infancy. He predicted amazing development within the next ten years.

"The government faces a big monetary sacrifice in selling this property to Ford at his offer but there are big benefits to be derived if his proposal is accepted, but whether these benefits offset the monetary sacrifice is a question for congress to decide, he said.

Secretary Weeks gave his opinion that Ford intends to establish industries at Muscle Shoals which would use much of the available waterpower at the site and that he also contemplated sale of the surplus power.

NAVAL ECONOMY TO BENEFIT
THE WAR VETERANS' BONUS.

It has been suggested that the soldiers' bonus be paid out of the money the nation will save from cutting down on its navy, and a plan is now on foot to complete some such arrangement. It would seem that such a scheme would work, provided there is a saving from the navy budget, and provided it is large enough. It will be some time, however, before it is known whether or not the disarmament conference agreement is actually ratified. In case a large saving is made on the navy, it is not probable that it will be greater than the naval appropriation of last year, which amounted to $410,000,000.

According to Secretary Mellon, the soldier bonus bill would amount to at least $475,000,000 a year, the second year of its operation. Thus it is seen that if the entire yearly appropriation to the navy was done away with still there would remain $65,000,000 to raise from some other source. Certainly it would be much better to spend the millions we have been putting into the navy into the welfare and comfort of the war veterans. As so much opposition has arisen to the other means proposed for raising the soldier bonus, no doubt much objection will be found to this method. It will be cried far and wide that the country was taught to believe that naval disarmament would mean lower taxes, and that if the money saved is to be retained by the government, what was the saving at all? In reply, it might be said that as long as congress has money to spend it is going to spend it, so why not let it out to the sailors and soldiers of the world war.

REPUBLICANS PRACTICE ECONOMY;
PRACTICE IT ON A SMALL SCALE.

Speaking at a recent meeting of government officials on the importance of economy in government, President Harding is quoted as saying:

"If our efforts here shall set a standard and inspire an ambition for greater economies and higher efficiency, we shall have served not only the government but the whole public particularly well, perhaps our example will be of service to the world."

The President seems to have great faith in the power of example. He seems to think that when the other nations of the world see that the American government is practicing efficient economy that they will follow suit. The American people are the richest people in the world and their government is the largest business organization in the world. Because our government is rich is no reason why it should be wasteful; we have actually thrown away enough wealth to make many other nations wealthy and prosperous. The government has been forced to take notice of its great expenditures of late because of the depletion caused by the great war. Now that we are called on to lead the governments of the world in thrift, can we do so with as great success as we have in the past led them to wasteful and harmful practices. Those who do not share the opinion that this country is independent of other nations in a business way are hopeful that something will be done to increase the buying power of the nations beyond the Atlantic, and consequently that America's normal export trade will be re-established. One small economy has been gained in the last six months, according to those who are boasting of the governmental budget. They say that in the last six months this system has been instrumental in saving the government $104,000,000 indirectly and $32,000,000 directly. While this is a small sum compared to the billions the government owes, it is a beginning and should encourage greater savings in future years.

AS TO BACK-PEDALING.

The Republican press and speakers are beginning rather early to argue that treaties and "pacts" made between two, three, four or five nations may have very much more prospect of observance than covenants—the league of nations, for instance—entered into by fifty or more without the necessity of an Article X—that is, some promise of force against recalcitrants if other things should fail. Those who are reminding these newspapers and politicians who used to ridicule the force of moral obligations or of economic pressure when urged by President Wilson as being more powerful than the fear of military interference, that "moral obligations" and "economic pressure" will be no more formidable for the enforcement of treaties and "pacts" than they would be for the enforcement of the covenants of the league of nations, are being called "myopic cynics." There will be no recalcitrants under the "pact" system. Mr. Root's words are now orthodox, because he has told them that "cynics are always near-sighted, and oft and usual the decisive facts lie beyond the range of their vision." That is, as the Philadelphia Public Ledger now says as it used to say of the covenants of the league of nations, "the opinion of civilization has been crystallized into the agreement that prohibits the violation of humanity's laws in the use of submarines and chemicals." Ah, says the Public Ledger, "Mr. Root is right—the nation violating these prohibitions will become an outlaw and a pariah," but nations violating the prohibitions in the covenants of the league of nations, we take it the Ledger means, would be doing the natural and expected thing and would not become "pariahs" or "outlaws," but would necessitate our sending our "dear boys" to fight on a foreign soil!

How foolish appear all the objections made by Mr. Lodge and others to the league of nations in view of the arguments they are now making to the "treaties" and "pacts," all of which con-

the United States to very serious international undertakings or else they mean nothing. These examples of "back-pedaling" prove quite conclusively that "myopic cynicism" is a characteristic of the American partisan politician, and he is most frequently found in high counsels of the nation.—Chattanooga Times.

IMMIGRATION LAW SURE TO BE RE-ENACTED.

Representative Albert Johnson, chairman of the house committee on immigration, stated in a recent address that the law restricting immigration, which expires June 30, will be re-enacted and will continue in force until repealed by congress. Some modifications will be made to do away with unnecessary hardships, but the limit of three per cent will be retained.

Although it is admitted that we have not yet solved the immigration problem, this country will never again become a dumping ground for undesirable aliens. That is the sentiment of the American people and of their representatives in congress. Instead of going back to the old slipshod method of letting Europe send her surplus population to the United States, regardless of their fitness for citizenship and our ability to assimilate them, the barriers will be kept up and will probably be strengthened, if the need should arise.

Before the world war we were getting about 1,000,000 immigrants a year. A large percentage of them were not desirable. The immigration law has cut this number down until it is estimated that the total for this year will be only 275,000. The type of people who are wanted in America and make good citizens will always be welcome and the three per cent limit will keep few of this class out, but it is proving highly effective in checking the flow of immigration from other and less desirable sources.

Whatever agitation there is against restricted immigration can be readily discounted. It comes from foreign steamship companies, foreign language newspapers, short-sighted employers of labor and others who profit by the lowest class of immigration from Europe.

Certain racial groups are easily assimilated. Others are not. This is true in normal times and as economic conditions are now in the United States, we are not in a position to assimilate 1,000,000 foreigners a year, even if they were all of the best European stock. Incidentally, that class of people have never crowded the immigrations ships and never will.—Age-Herald.

WHERE ARE THE MEN?

One of the striking features of the campaign for funds being conducted by the Woodrow Wilson Foundation is the preponderance of women's names among the contributors.

The Woodrow Wilson Foundation is the development of a woman's idea of erecting a memorial to the living man and women in all of the states have taken a leading part in the collection of funds.

But this is not to be a monument erected by American women.

In Tennessee, in particular, women have not only provided the impetus for the campaign, but the donations from women have far outnumbered the donations of men.

Perhaps it is not difficult to account for the activity of women in such an undertaking as this. It was the mothers who supplied the cannon fodder for the war, and it was Woodrow Wilson who labored so earnestly to prevent a repetition of war on a vast scale which would tear the sons of today and the sons to come from the sides of their parents.

Mr. Wilson seems to have found his place in the hearts of American womanhood. But what of the men?

Can it be said that the great ideals for which Mr. Wilson fought find no response in the male breast. Or is the head of the house simply content "to let the women folks do the job?"

The indications are that Tennessee's quota will be subscribed before the week-end. For this the women of Tennessee are entitled to the major portion of the credit.—Nashville Tennessean.

The senate may have a bloc head, but it seems to be thinking very clearly on the Ford offer, thank you.

So far spring tells of her triumph only with daffodils; but a little later you will see the wind flower and the violet.

Rubber was an ordinary commodity in Mexico centuries ago. And that country has an abundance of oil also. Does this have anything to do with the smoothness of the Mexicans and their ability to stretch things?

Dispatches say that quick action is expected from congress on the Ford contract. In view of the leisurely habits of that body, would it not be putting it quite strong enough to say that such action is "hoped for"?

There is one very damaging thing that has not been brought to light about the submarines—namely, none of them have ever been known to be stocked with musical instruments.

Diversity is the spice that keeps humanity keyed up to the point that it can keep fit to pursue; likewise, diversification of products of the soil will make a country a very self-sustaining one, and cause it to never have to depend on outside assistance. We will then become shippers out, instead of shippers in.

A train of empty wagons coming to market is not a very inspiring sign. But loaded wagons on the way to the markets of the country spell something more than dollars and cents. It means prospering communities and prosperous communities mean a happy and contented people.

For any country to depend on another country for what it can raise profitably at home is a start in the wrong direction, and the start should be made over. It won't get one anywhere.

If the great mass of humanity ever expects to get anywhere it must begin to think collectively along the same line, and let that line of thought be along constructive lines. Helpful, constructive thought and not destruction.

Real Estate Now More Active Here

Real estate in the Twin Cities is looking up and there is almost daily inquiry for property here by outside parties. Unless all signs fail there will be quite an activity noted here during the next sixty days in residence and business property.

Several deals it is understood have been proposed for city property within the last week or two and it is quite likely that some will be consummated in the near future.

Negro Captured; Goods Are Taken

James Walker, negro, was taken into custody by deputies at an early hour this morning at a house in the Crawford row, and a quantity of clothing and shoes was confiscated. The lettering on the bottom of the shoes had been rubbed off in the attempt to destroy the brand on them. Walker was placed in the county jail with the charge of having in his possession stolen goods.

BIDS FOR SCHOOL BONDS REJECTED BY CITY OF ALBANY

A busy session of the Albany city council was held Tuesday evening when several important matters vital to the city were taken up and disposed of.

It was announced that the board was ready to receive bids for the sale of the city bonds voted for school purposes. There was no bid received, this from a Jackson, Tenn., concern whose representative present announced that unless the city was ready to close contract he was not empowered by his company to hold the bid open. It was rejected.

The Mayor, Mr. Bloodworth, Mr. Bowles, Mr. Tidwell, and the chairman of the finance committee were appointed a committee to investigate the bond market thoroughly and report at next meeting.

The matter of re-surfacing and repairing some of the streets of the city was discussed at some length, after which the Mayor and the chairman of the street committee were appointed to take this matter up with contractors and see how much work was necessary to be done, probable cost etc.

Mr. Sewell, who resides on Sixth Avenue North, appeared before the fire committee and asked that they be given better fire protection in that locality. This matter was referred to the fire committee who will report at next meeting.

After disposing of other routine matters the meeting was adjourned.

Bailey Company To Have Banquet

TRI CITIES' FOLK RESIST ACTION OF POWER UNIT

(International News Service)

FLORENCE, Ala., Feb. 8.—People of the Tennessee Valley are enraged at the action of the Alabama power company in fighting the Ford offer for Muscle Shoal and talk suggesting retaliatory action against them is heard here generally.

They are also highly indignant that a former Alabama congressman should lend his influence in congress to the corporation.

No Clue Yet to Vault Robbers

The vault robbery at the court house early in the week is no nearer a solution now than it was the day it was discovered, say the officials. It has baffled them all, and it is said that there is positively no clue as to the perpetrators of the deed. It is impossible at this time to state the exact amount that was secured, but officials say it will be in the neighborhood of $100. This amount, course will be made good by the tax collector.

WEAK; RUN-DOWN

Carolina Lady Got So She Could Just Drag.—"Cardui Built Me Up," She Declares.

Kernersville, N. C.—In an interesting statement regarding Cardui, the Woman's Tonic, Mrs. Wesley Mabe, of our here, recently said: "I have known Cardui for years, but never knew its worth until a year or so ago. I was in a weakened, run-down condition. I became draggy—didn't eat or sleep to do any good; couldn't do anything without a great effort. I tried different remedies and medicines, yet I continued to drag."

"I decided to give Cardui a trial, and found it was just what I really needed. It made me feel much stronger soon after I began to use it. I began to eat more, and the nervous, weak feeling began to leave. Soon I was sleeping good."

"Cardui built me up as no other tonic ever did. I used Cardui with one daughter who was puny, felt bad and tired out all the time. It brought her right out, and soon she was as well as a girl could be. We think there is nothing like Cardui."

Do not allow yourself to become weak and run-down from womanly troubles. Take Cardui. You may find it just what you really need. For more than 40 years it has been used by thousands and thousands, and found just as Mrs. Mabe describes.

TAX AUDITORS TO BE APPOINTED SOON

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 8.—The collection of United States internal revenue taxes is a big job. The Civil Service Commission said in a statement issued today that more than 20,000 Government employees are engaged in this work, 7,800 of whom are attached to the Income Tax Unit. This latter figure includes more than 5,000 auditors and inspectors of income tax returns who are employed in Washington and in the field.

Notwithstanding this large force, the Civil Service Commission states that the Bureau of Internal Revenue needs several hundred more auditors and inspectors for the Income Tax Unit, and that an examination to fill these positions will be held throughout the country on March 8. The entrance salaries offered range from $1,800 to $3,000 a year. Advance salary will depend upon demonstrated efficiency.

New appointees are given a six-weeks course of training in the techniques of the income tax law and are paid full salary during such instruction.

Full information and application blanks may be obtained from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C., or from the Civil Service Board at the post office at Albany, Ala.

SCHOOL AWARDED

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 8—Special—Ozark, county seat of Dale county, was given the county high school by the state board of education late Tuesday after a greater part of the day had been spent in considering the claims of Ozark and Midland City. Big delegations appeared in the interest of the two towns but Ozark's offer was considered the best by the board.

The people of Lawrence County are assured by the Courtland Commercial Club, who are responsible for the "Trade Day"; that the second of these trade days, which comes on Monday, March 6th will be bigger and better in every respect than the one just closed.

SCIENTISTS REVOLUTIONIZE

Treatment for Thin, Nervous, Run-down, Anemic Conditions of Children, Adults and Aged People

For the first time since we have conducted our drug store, we are able to offer to our customers a remedy for the above-named conditions that has been tested and approved by a famous nutritional scientist at one of our leading Medical Colleges. The remedy is known as SUSTO Nutritive Tonic Tablets.

The scene when Pop, the old stage door keeper, played by Charles Ogle, deliberately cuts his wrist by smashing a champagne bottle, in the hope that he may save his little ward Ellen from what he deems a harmful love affair, is intensely dramatic in its developments. The blood transfusion that follows is eminently realistic and novel. The heart interest is compelling and the gayer scenes lend spectacular value to the film.

Leading medical men of the country have for some time been advocating dietetic treatment instead of medicines for such conditions. Now science has come to our rescue and produced SUSTO. It has been tested for many months and approved by a Professor of Physiological Chemistry at one of our greatest American Medical Colleges. In the report of his tests he says: "In all cases of a general, run-down system, or in convalescence, SUSTO played a very important part in stimulating the appetite and increasing body weight. In every instance where under-nourished infants and children were given SUSTO, important body-weight increases were registered."

Therefore we feel very confident that our customers can find nothing better than SUSTO for all weak, thin, run-down, nervous anemic conditions, for feeble old people, and delicate children.

If you try it for one month and do not feel better in every way we will return your money.—Advertisement.

COURTLAND TRADE DAY IS SUCCESS

The business men of Courtland are congratulating themselves today on the success of their first "Trade Day".

A huge crowd was present to share in the bargains offered, practically every section of the county being represented.

Pre-arranged program was carried out, and all present expressed themselves as well pleased with the efforts of the Courtland people to make the day pleasant and profitable to those who attended.

At 10:30 A. M. Dr. Rebman delivered a short address of welcome, telling the assembled crowd that the town was much gratified with the number of people who had come in and telling them of the renewed interest which the town had taken in the country people and their welfare.

Pruett's orchestra of Florence played at intervals throughout the day.

At 1:30 P. M. the auctioneer announced that he was prepared to auction off anything which was offered for sale, without cost to the seller.

This proved one of the most interesting features of the day, a total of twenty-five articles being sold. The following were some of the articles sold: watches, rings, ax handles, chairs, peas, comforts, chickens, horses and two hound dogs.

At 2:30 P. M. the drawing for the Grand Prize took place, which was won by Joe Jordan of Route No. 3 Town Creek, and who selected from the list of prizes offered, a barrel of flour and a sack of sugar.

The people of Lawrence County are assured by the Courtland Commercial Club, who are responsible for the "Trade Day"; that the second of these trade days, which comes on Monday, March 6th will be bigger and better in every respect than the one just closed.

SHE LOOKS SO WELL AND HAPPY

See the rich, red blood, the sign of health, showing in her lovely cheeks

Some women have naturally beautiful complexions that tell you there is plenty of richness in their blood. Their figures become well formed, supple, rounded and graceful. Those are the results of rich, red blood, and plenty of it. There is no need of being thin and scrawny from poor blood. Get a few bottles of Gude's Pepto-Mangan — take it with your meals for a few weeks. It will give you plenty of red blood. By building up the blood, you give the entire system a chance to restore itself naturally, and that brings natural bloom and beauty and all the effects and joys of good health. Get Gude's Pepto-Mangan at your druggist's in liquid or tablet form.—Advertisement.

COTTON MARKET SHOWS STRENGTH

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Guided by strength at Liverpool traders bought cotton freely at the opening here to-day and prices advanced 8 to 9 points, followed by further moderate upturns. Liverpool and Japanese interests were the chief sellers at the start, the support coming from the trade, New Orleans and Wall street.

At the end of the first 15 minutes the list was firm and about 23 points net higher.
